Sunday's Reflection

Today we celebrate the Feast of All Saints Day, honoring those who have achieved what we are striving to achieve; the Holy ones who went before us to show us the way. They were human, as we are. They had struggles, trials and suffering, as we do. They had access to God's graces, as we do. They used those graces to overcome their flaws and weaknesses and sins; to conform their will to God's will and serve Him with all their heart. They allowed Christ to change their lives into ones of virtue and holiness, drawing their strength and courage from Him, making known His goodness and love. Read their lives. Become friends with them. They are our mentors, guides and advocates, in our striving for holiness. Fittingly, in today's Gospel, we have the Beatitudes, Christ's own guide, describing God's promises of human fulfillment that all the Saints achieved; showing the way to happiness, blessedness, holiness, which is the vocation and destiny of us all. Let us celebrate this Feast in joy, in gratitude to God and all His Saints, in our striving to attain all the gifts of God's promises.

Letter From Father Galante

Dear friends,

Blessed Solemnity of All Saints! On this day, we celebrate the life of heaven and the goal to which all of us long!

One of the big differences between Catholics and the various Protestants groups is the focus on the saints. Protestants often make accusations about how Catholic worship Mary or give too much attention to the saints and their relics. Many Catholics sense the importance of Mary's role and of the saints, but we do not always know how to respond.

Three words can help us here: latria, hyperdulia, and dulia. Latria is means adoration or worship, and it is the type of pious love, devotion, and prayer that is reserved only to the Most Holy Trinity: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. We only adore God. We give worship to God alone. We love God above all persons and things, even his saints. We receive all graces from God, and he alone can save us.

Hyperdulia means highest veneration, and it is reserved for the Blessed Virgin Mary, the Mother of God. Mary's role in salvation is unique and paramount. Due to her exalted role, chosen for her by God himself and cooperated through her own freedom, Mary gave the Savior a human nature and thus ushered in his salvation. She was assumed body and soul into heaven and crowned the Queen, and by this she shows the destiny to which all human persons are called. She is given highest veneration by the Church throughout all the world and throughout all time.

Dulia means veneration, and it is what we show to the Saints as they now live forever in heaven. To be in heaven means that one is a saint. One cannot go to heaven if one is not a saint. Thus it is important that all of us strive to "enter through the narrow gate" as Jesus tells us by living a life of holiness. Once one has died in friendship with God and has been purified of any attachments to sin, he or she is admitted to the company of the saints. We read reference to this holy company in Revelation 5. There are capital S Saints, the canonized ones, and lower s saints, all those who have not been declared but who nonetheless live in heaven with God forever. To all the saints, we show veneration because of their holiness of life and the way God has been shown through them.

When Catholics "pray to Mary and the Saints", we are not offering worship. We are simply asking them to pray for us. In our lives on earth, we do this all the time. Whenever someone is going through a trial, they call their family and friends to pray for them. We do the same with Mary and the Saints. But because they are in heaven, we believe their prayers are very powerful in bringing about the grace from God that we need.

Calling to mind the saints arouses in us a longing to enjoy their company! They want us to be with them. In commemorating them, we are inflamed the yearning that Christ may also appear to us as he appeared to them. Let us rejoice with all the saints and beg their intercession as we continue our lives on earth, so that we could one day experience the joy of heaven.

In Christ,

Fr. Galante
